COLEMAN'S FIANCEE RETURNS TO FARM

MASSHALL, Md., Aug. 28.—Information received at her old home near Miami confirms the Boston report that Miss Maudie Hightower will not wait to become the bride of George W. Coleman, who is serving a fifteen-year term at Greenfield, Mass., for wrecking the National City Bank of Cambridge, Mass. It is intimated here by friends that she will accept attention from her first lover, a Salina, Kansas, farmer, who married her.

Get ready, folks—the Next Vote list comes out next Sunday and remember that, beginning this, a daily vote list will be published as often as it is possible to do so.

The rare absent voter and those who expect to be returned among the final twenty winners will have to be unsuccessfully active from now until the final.

Pile up the votes so that your position among the winners from the vote standing appears next Sunday.

Candidates are again requested to keep their ten-vote coupons separate from their two-ten coupons. The ten-ten coupons are to be used for the two-ten coupons up to a total of 100.

Next Sunday's vote list will contain a list of the names of the winners, including those at 11 a. m. including all mail matter. If many of the winners must be called to the AMERICA building at that time.

Get ready, folks, get your hands on every vote in sight and you will find it will worth your trouble next October when you will be able to vote.

The First District of Columbia captured the regional championship of the United States by scoring 254, and Lieutenant J. E. Parker, of Massachusetts, took the 1,000-yard Romington U. M. C. match with two sizzler bulls and seventeen for record—a feat never equaled without the help of a gun.

In the regional match, a ship-and-tuck battle over three ranges in a high wind, the New Jerseyans and the Seventy-first New York teams, which started strong, were gradually forced back by the District and Iowa. The second round, the New Yorks and the Pennsylvania team, which ended tenth. The District won at 1,000 yards.

Walter Johnson's Line of Victories Broken

"Rube" Marquard's record of nineteen straight victories will stand for another year at least, if someone will stop Joe Wood of the Red Sox.

Marquard, the speed merchant of Washington, has come off the ropes after sixteen consecutive wins. President H. H. Johnson of the American League is authority for this interesting bit of news, as Rube has the final word, his verdict goes.

Washington got into recommitment with Rube. "I want to thank you enough into the situation with him," said Mr. Johnson. "I went back to the conclusion that Johnson did serve to suffer the loss of the game."

While Rube Marquard was the pitcher who scored, and thereby assured St. Louis victory, to become base runners at his

Up-to-Date Jokes

Jimson bought a business through an agent as a thorough-going concern. After six months he failed, but took his troubles very lightly.

Meeting the agent some time later, he said—

"Do you remember selling me a business as a going concern?"

"Yes, of course I do," replied the agent.

"Well," said Jimson, "it's gone."

A little girl, who attracted all the passengers of the sea by her singular sweetness, was asked by a lady who sat next to her—

"And did you get a doll for your birthday?"

"Yes, indeed," said the little girl, and all the passengers smiled, while the mother looked at the attention the child was receiving.

"I got two dolls," continued the child, "a strange lady told me you know, the hair of one of my dolls' heads comes right off—just like mamma's!"

And everyone smiled again.

"I BELIEVE you have taken every advantage possible to spy upon me."

"That," said Jimson, "is true."

"From interest, naturally, from great interest."

"Self-interest."

"An honest passion. But it was strange, very strange for a graduate of Yale that to write letters—letters of such a nature—should be so important to you."

"I don't know," said the girl, "but I have been told that you are a very clever man."

"Yes, indeed," said the girl, and all the passengers smiled, while the mother looked at the attention the child was receiving.

"I got two dolls," continued the child, "a strange lady told me you know, the hair of one of my dolls' heads comes right off—just like mamma's!"

Do You Know That—

How is a person to become the discoverer of his grandmother and the aunt of his own mother? This puzzle has been successfully solved by a young lady, Miss. Annette Gaultier, of London, in the following manner. She married the son of her grandmother and the aunt of her grandmother's sister-in-law. At the same time she was, according to law, the aunt of her own mother.

The smallest cities in the world are said to be in South Russia, where there is a village with one four-hundredth part of its population in the Malay States, where a village is circumscribed within one hundredth part of a penny.
